Frederick-Firestone Fire Protection District Recognizes Employees at Annual Event
Paramedic/Firefighter Martinez Earns Employee of the Year

FREDERICK, COLO. – During its end-of-the year celebration, the Frederick-Firestone Fire Protection District recognized employees for the work and service they provide to the community and to each other.

Paramedic/Firefighter Chandler Martinez earned the honors of Employee of the Year for going above and beyond during 2018. The Employee of the Year Award is nominated and voted on by District peers.

The Training Division also recognized employees who not only trained a lot in 2018, but those who shared what they learned to better the District. EMT/Firefighter Kory Knill received the Fire Training Award for his work on the District Wildland Team. The EMS Training Award was given to Paramedic/Firefighter Jaycee Lovato for her continued medical training.

Awards for Years of Service were also recognized during the event. Five-year awards were given to Assistant Chief Steve Iacino and Battalion Chief Chris Edwards. And three 15-year awards went to Executive Assistant Dale Ingraham, Fire Prevention Specialist Dave Puccetti and EMT/Firefighter Kory Knill.
